MADAM:

The 3rd Annual National Conference on Cloud Computing, Climate, and Geography will be held on October 8, 2016 at Maxino College, Bagacay, Dumaguete City 6200, to which teachers, students, community development workers, agriculturists, ICT personnel, meteorologists and climatologists, and other IT and climate enthusiasts are invited to participate. The activity is sponsored by the Philippine Physics Society, Maxino College, and the Cloud Computing Network for Climate Studies.

The conference will feature lectures, workshops and equipment construction and utilization. Prospective participants are invited to contribute research papers, lectures, or workshops. An abstract or description of the presentation (not exceeding half of an 8½" x 11" page, single-spaced) should be received not later than September 8, 2016 by Dr. Gerardo C. Maxino, Physics Department, Maxino College, 6200 Dumaguete City (email: philippinephysics@yahoo.com and gerardomaxino@yahoo.com). For first-time presenters, a one-paragraph profile of the presenter(s) should accompany the abstract. For collaborative work, the presenter should be clearly indicated by an underline.

A conference sharing contribution of P600 will be charged each participant to help cover conference-related expenses. Separate membership fees are charged for those joining the Philippine Physics Society (P250) and the Cloud Computing Network for Climate Studies (P250). Also journals, rain gauges, and other physics laboratory equipment will be available at specially low costs.

Considering that climate change is a leading issue and that the education sector has much to contribute to its understanding and to the success of mitigation and adaptation measures, we would like to request your good office to issue a division memorandum encouraging teachers to participate in the activity and giving them the necessary support for their attendance.

The announcement/invitation is attached to this letter.

Thank you very much for your kind attention and action.

Very respectfully yours,

GERARDO C. MAXINO, Ph D

National President, PPS
